ST. LUKE'S APPOINTS TWO NEW MEMBERS TO HOSPITAL BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Boise, ID (November 17, 2006) – St. Luke's recently welcomed John Jackson and Richard Raimondi to its board of directors. Mr. Jackson and Mr. Raimondi join 18 other community volunteers who devote their time and talents to help guide St. Luke's in fulfilling its non-profit mission of improving the health of people in the region.

John Jackson is the CEO and founder of Jacksons Food Stores, Inc., in addition to Jackson Oil Company and Capitol Distributing, Inc. He is involved in many associations such as US Bank Western Idaho Advisory Board, Chairman National Shell Wholesale Council, Member of the Board of Trustees Albertson's College of Idaho, Trustee Boise State University Foundation, Boise Chamber of Commerce Board, and many others.

Richard Raimondi is a Hewlett-Packard Company (HP) vice president and general manager of HP's United States Graphic Arts Business. He has worked at HP for 27 years, in a variety of various marketing, sales, and general management capacities. Mr. Raimondi is a graduate of Stanford University and received his MBA from the University of Oregon.

Members of St. Luke's boards of directors provide guidance for medical center policy, development and service enhancement, as hospital revenues are reinvested back into local health care services, facilities, and equipment. St. Luke's is a federally recognized 501c3 not-for-profit community hospital, committed to providing health care to all those in need regardless of their ability to pay.
